REYNOLDS & SON, BARRE

STOCKHOLDER LIABLE.

No Limitation Statute Can Save National Bank Now.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—That a state statute of limitation cannot be used to protect a stockholder of a failed national bank against liability on his stock, was yesterday decided by the supreme court of the United States in an opinion delivered by Justice McKenna in the case of George C. Rankin, receiver of the Hutchinson National Bank of Hutchinson, Kan., vs. Edward E. Barton, a stockholder in the bank.

In this instance an effort was made to enforce the individual liability requirement of the national banking laws in 1900, seven years after the suspension of the bank.

Barton took the case into the Kansas courts, pleading the state statute of limitation, which protects a debtor after three years.

The state supreme court sustained the plea, but that decision was reversed by yesterday's decision.

A MOVE FOR FREE HIDES

Manufacturers are to Meet
In Washington.

THEIR CAUSE GROWS

President Will Listen to Their Appeal
— He Is Inclined to Look Upon It With Favor.

Washington, Nov. 14.—A meeting of the manufacturers who are coming here to see the president in the interest of a repeal of the duty on hides will be held at the New Willard this evening. Notable accessions have recently come to the free hide cause. Mr. Armour of Chicago, one of the chief beneficiaries of the duty as a packer, is now said to favor its repeal because of his large interest in the reorganized leather company. The whole shoe and leather industry of the country is aroused and will bring pressure to bear in many states. The president will listen attentively to the appeal. He is a tariff revisionist himself, and wishes it were possible to correct a hundred other duties. He may tell the committee what President Harrison told the sound money delegation that visited him in the middle of his administration, that if they would bend their energies toward keeping Congress straight on the silver question, he would not be remiss in his duties at the White House. It will be an interesting question what Congress will do, assuming no general tariff revision, with a series of special appeals, like those of free hides, free wool pulp, free art, etc. These demands have been held in check for years by the promise of a general revision, when they would be heard, but now that this has been indefinitely postponed, they are eager for a hearing. Whether the Republican leaders in Congress will insist upon their old theory that to touch one schedule endangers all, disregarding the justice of every claim for relief, remains to be seen.

HAMILTON TO EXPLAIN

Or President McCall Will Repay Fund to N. Y. Life.

REBATES PAID HEGEMAN

President of Metropolitan Life Paid Rebates on Interest on Loans —
4 1/2 Per Cent Really
But 1 1/2.

New York, Nov. 14.—John A. McCall, president of the New York Life Insurance company, took the stand before the insurance committee yesterday afternoon and declared he did not know when "Judge" Andrew Hamilton was, but had heard he was a sick man.

Mr. McCall submitted to the committee a copy of a statement which he said he had sent to the board of trustees of his company. In this statement Mr. McCall set forth that unless Judge Andrew Hamilton accounted before December 15, 1905, for $25,000 which had been turned over to him for building and other purposes for the New York Life company, Mr. McCall himself would pay the amount out of his own pocket.

Q.—There are still greater amounts outstanding in the hands of Mr. Hamilton. Has the board of trustees, or have you taken any step to see that they are accounted for? A.—No.

Q.—It is the desire of the committee that these sums be accounted for. It is the committee's desire that you communicate with Mr. Hamilton and inform him that the money must be turned over or accounted for. A.—I will do so at once. It is my desire no less than that of the committee.

Mr. McCall submitted to Mr. Hughes a report which a special committee had made on October 19, 1905, to the trustees, recommending that all money hereafter expended for counsel fees for the purpose of influencing legislation be properly receipted and otherwise accounted for and embodied in the monthly reports, and also in the annual report to the superintendent of insurance.

President John R. Hegeman of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company said earlier in the day that he did not believe there is an impropriety in profit-sharing by syndicate participants in which his company also is interested.

He had, so he testified, during a certain period turned in to the company a portion of such profits—because a friend suggested that criticism would be excited otherwise. But the amount thus turned in was about $16,000, while his net personal profit was still more than $45,000.

It was shown by Mr. Hegeman and others that while he was charged 4 1/2 per cent by Vermilye & Co. for the partly speculative handling of monies consigned to Hegeman by widows, orphans and others, he received from the banking firm, by personal checks of members and without knowledge of the employees, a rebate bringing the actual charge down to 1 1/2 per cent.

George W. Palmer was the first witness called. He said he was a clerk for Mackay & Co., and was also employed by Vermilye & Co. in liquidation. He was banking, however, for Mr. Hegeman then took the stand.

Statements of an entirely new and interesting character are looked for, says the Tribune, when James Hazen Hyde takes the witness stand before the legislative insurance committee this week. Despite the nature of the Hendrick and Hyde reports, Mr. Hyde is expected to cause at least one sensation in his testimony.

Mr. Hyde, according to intentions as stated Sunday, will begin his testimony today. As the result of this, Jacob H. Schiff may be recalled to the stand.

She hastily bound a cloth around his neck and later a surgeon sewed up the wound. Mr. Monroe has now decided not to hurry matters in the same way again.

BOURSE NEAR A PANIC

Czar's Decision Over Poland
the Cause.

BIG DROP ON BOURSE

Stern Suppression of Polish Attempt for Autonomy—Witte Against the Granting—Believed But Prelude.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 14.—The formal proclamation of martial law throughout Russian Poland and the promulgation of the government's intention to suppress the Polish movement to secure autonomy almost created a panic on the Bourse yesterday, imperial fours again falling to 56. Industrials seem to have no bottom.

The city is full of rumors to the effect that the imperial ukase was issued over Count Witte's head at the instigation of the reactionaries, which is equivalent to the count's retirement; but it can be stated with positiveness that the action was taken upon the premier's advice.

Count Witte impressed on his majesty the advisability of restoring Finland's constitution and reversing the policy of the Russification of the grand duchy, but to surrender autonomy to Poland after all the old grievances of the Poles had been redressed and they had been placed upon an equality with Russians the count considered would only be a prelude to an attempt to set up the ancient kingdom as a separate entity.

This would involve ultimately either the dismemberment of the empire or the necessity for bloody suppression such as marked the crushing of the revolutions of 1831 and 1863.

It was regarded as wise, therefore, to take the bull by the horns and let the Poles understand that the Separatist movement would not be tolerated.

It is believed here that both Germany and Austria have given Russia assurances of support, as both countries have a Polish problem on their hands. Under ordinary circumstances the Russian people would be apt to sympathize with coercive measures for the suppression of the Nationalist movement in Poland, but in the present state of public opinion coercion is more likely to create a bad impression, especially as many Liberals immediately greeted the appearance of the ukase with charges of bad faith.

HANDS CRACKED AND PEELED

—Grew Worse Under Doctors—
Could Not Do Any Housework.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE BY CUTICURA

"About a year ago my hands began to crack and peel. I tried many remedies, but they grew worse all the time. At last they became so sore that it was impossible for me to do my housework. If I put my hands in water, I was in agony for hours; and if I tried to cook over the stove, the heat caused intense pain. I consulted a doctor, but his prescriptions were utterly useless. I gave him up and tried another, but without the least satisfaction. About six weeks ago I got my first relief when I purchased Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using them for a week, I found to my great delight that my hands were beginning to feel much better, the deep cracks began to heal up and stop running, and to-day my hands are entirely well, the one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment being all that I used.
